Description

This stylish 53 sqm European-style two-room apartment is located in a pre-revolutionary mansion built in 1914 on Malaya Bronnaya, right in the heart of Moscow, just a short walk from the iconic Patriarch's Ponds. The building belongs to an exclusive club-style residence with very few apartments, a private fenced courtyard, and a barrier-controlled entrance, ensuring complete peace, privacy, and security.

The apartment boasts a brand-new designer renovation with a well-thought-out layout: a spacious kitchen and living room are combined into a bright, open-plan area, while the bedroom remains fully separate. This clever design eliminates dark hallways and makes the most of every square metre of space.

Transport links are excellent, with Pushkinskaya and Mayakovskaya metro stations just 7–12 minutes away on foot. For those travelling by car, surface parking is available within the secure, barrier-controlled territory.
