Residential complex "Camelot"

Фрунзенская ЦАО Moscow, Komsomolskiy prospekt 32

Number of storeys 18

Description

"Kamelot" is an elite residential complex in Khamovniki, at 32 Komsomolskiy Prospekt. Developer Augur Estate built the property in 2008–2009 in a prestigious area near the Garden Ring.

The complex consists of three monolithic brick buildings, 15, 17, and 19 stories high. The facades feature a contemporary style, and the building is equipped with central air conditioning and a boiler room. Ceiling heights range from 3.1 to 3.4 meters.

The windows offer panoramic views of the Cathedral of Christ the Savior, the Kremlin, Neskuchniy Sad, and the monument to Peter the Great.

The secure and landscaped grounds include a checkpoint at the entrance. The basement level houses parking for 350 cars and a car wash. Residents have access to the Camelot GYM fitness club with a 12-meter pool, sauna, hammam, jacuzzi, a gym with Precor, Hammer, and TechnoGym equipment, and group classes (yoga, Pilates, aerobics). The complex also features a beauty salon, a laser clinic, a café, and a children's playground.

Frunzenskaya metro station (5 minutes' walk), Mandelstam Park (the former Trubetskoy estate)—a landmark of landscape architecture—the Novodevichy Convent, and the Moskva River embankment are all within walking distance.
